AIM AND SCOPE

Historiographia Linguistica (HL) serves the ever growing community of scholars interested in the history of the sciences concerned with language such as linguistics, anthropology, philosophy, psychology, neurology, and other disciplines.

Central objectives of HL are the critical presentation of the origin and development of particular ideas, concepts, schools of thought or trends, and the discussion of the methodological and philosophical foundations of a historiography of the language sciences, including the treatment of the relationship between this field of study and the history and philosophy of science in general.

HL is published in 3 issues per year of about 450 pages altogether. Each issue contains at least three major articles, one review article and/or a bibliography devoted to a particular topic, and many reviews and review notes as well as information on recent activities in the field.

MANUSCRIPTS

Manuscripts submitted for publication in Historiographia Linguistica should be in English, French, or German; occasionally, contributions in other languages using Latin script may also be considered. Manuscripts should at least be in duplicate.

Before sending a manuscript, contributors are asked to familiarize themselves with the style adopted in HL (which by and large follows that of the Linguistic Society of America; cf. LSA Bulletin No.102, December 1983, pp.47-49). Particular attention should be given to the conventions used in the citation of sources and the presentation of bibliographical references, for which recent issues of HL should be consulted. Sigla of periodicals are those employed by the Linguistic Bibliography/Bibliographie Linguistique (The Hague: Nijhoff). Manuscripts that do not follow HL style may be returned to the author without prior evaluation by external readers. Authors are requested to check their manuscripts carefully before submission as corrections at proofstage are costly.

It is suggested that authors write to one of the editors before submitting a paper. All correspondence concerning editorial matters — inquiries regarding suitable topics, length of manuscripts, reviews, etc. — should be sent directly to either of the editors:
